Watch out, Lisa Vanderpump! Patti Stanger is ready to become the next Bravolebrity restaurateur.

As RadarOnline.com exclusively reported last month, the Millionaire Matchmaker star wants to walk away from her hit Bravo series and move onto other business ventures. But now Radar can reveal that the 53-year-old is looking to buy a Los Angeles wine bar with the partners for her new line of wines, PS Match.

“It’s going to be a matchmaking bar where the servers match the singles,” an insider explains to Radar.

PARTY PATROL

Yesterday, the no-nonsense New Jersey native announced her new wine collection with Prairie Creek Beverages and negotiant Cameron Hughes.

“There is nothing that I love more than connecting those who belong together and as I’ve told my friends and clients for years, there’s no more romantic way to strike up a new conversation and get to know someone than over a glass of wine — which can really be an aphrodisiac,” Stanger said.

Will you drink Patti’s wine and watch her new show? Sound off in the comments.
